Canton OKs $6 million fire station contract

Julie Brown
Staff Writer

There will soon be a new fire station in Canton Township.

Members of the board of trustees officially approved the $6.355 million expenditure during their regular meeting Sept. 10 and awarded the contract to The Daily Co.

The company is also building a senior living facility near the fire station site at 41200 Warren Road in the township.

Canton Public Safety Director Joshua Meier told the board members that the four lowest bidders on the project were interviewed by staff members.. The four low bidders were all close in price, he said, among the nine total bidders on the fire station.

> Future modifications to the building, if any, will be at the discretion of the board of trustees.

Meier said that the work of the Daily Co. in the township and in other communities was a factor in recommending them for the project.

A Daily Co. representative said his firm has done two fire stations in Lake Orion, one last year in Troy, and several fire stations in Detroit in recent years.

Meier said the design of the new station along with environmental factors was also considered and that the proposed buildings will be erected to "design the building with the most energy efficient components."

Future modifications to the building, if any, will be at the discretion of the board of trustees members, added Meier.

Members of the board of trustees also approved auxiliary services contract with DTE for electrical service, not to exceed $50,000; to the Mannik & Smith Group for asbestos removal and construction testing, not to exceed $60,000; and to Partners in Architecture for a contract amendment, for $35,045.

Also approved at Sept. 10 was a diesel generator to operate all emergency equipment in Canton on emergency situation sites. The generator will cost some $16,000 and will replacing the current diesel generator which has failed and can't be repaired.

That purchase is from American Generator Sales & Service, LLC.

Pumpkin Festival

Annual Romulus celebration set

The 22nd Annual Romulus Pumpkin Festival will celebrate the history and spirit of the community tomorrow and Saturday, Sept. 20 and 21, with entertainment and events designed to please all ages and interests.

Some of the most popular events at the parade are the annual culinary contests which allow area residents to submit their finest canned goods, pies and sunflowers for honors.

The winners of those various contests will all be announced as part of the festival at 12:30 Saturday, Sept. 20 in the Hospitality Tent. Entries in those contests celebrating the harvests of tomatoes, green beans, pickles and fruits delivered their entries in the contest to the Romulus Senior Center today. Winners in the canning contest last year included July Leland who won first place for her canned tomatoes and Jim and Sandy Chapman who won second-place honors. The Chapmans also won first place for their canned honey and another second place honor for their canned pickles. First place for canned pickles last year was awarded to Patrick and Liz Webb.

This year, pie entries were limited to pumpkin, sweet potato, peach and apple pies.

And judges will again this year be looking for the largest pumpkin grown in Romulus and the largest and tallest sunflower in the contest. The Sunflower growing contest last year was won by Ray and Sherry Dubiski.

Another popular "competition" is the voting for the cutest baby and the cutest pet which allows residents to cast their votes for the various entries in the contest. Those winners will also be announced on Saturday.

Boy Scout Troop 872 will host a Pancake Breakfast from 8-11:30 a.m. Saturday, and there will be a White Elephant Sale at St. Aloysius Church, a Car Show, craft and food vendors, a Kid Zone of inflatable, a Pumpkin Painting Tent, children's games, the famous Punkin' Chuckin' contest and the Spaghetti Dinner from 5-6:30 p.m. Saturday at Community United Methodist Church.

The Pumpkin Pub will be open serving beer and wine from 6 p.m. until 1 a.m. both Friday and Saturday.

Highlighting the musical entertainment this year will be the DTour Band performing on the Main Stage Friday and Just A Few Cats performing on the Main Stage on Saturday.

Just A Few Cats was co-founded by songwriter Alven Garrett and American Idol winner Ruben Studdard, who will not be performing..

Saturday entertainment on the stage will also include Step in Line from 2:30 until 3:30 and Karaoke with Jeff Lowery from 5-7 p.m.

Festival organizers said they expect large crowds for the annual community event celebrating fall again this year.

The downtown festival is a celebration of friends and family and is a harvest celebration that generates enthusiastic spirit and regenerates the sense of community, committee members said.

(A complete guide to the Romulus Pumpkin Festival is included in this edition of The Eagle.)

Town hall addresses concerns about opioid clinic

A town hall meeting designed to allay concerns about an opioid treatment center drew a large crowd in Westland last week.

The new facility met the requirements of both the planning commission and city council and was approved for the former Montana's Steakhouse site at 34290 Ford Road. Council members James Hart and Peter Herzberg cast the only dissenting votes on the new facility.

> The new facility met the requirements of both the planning commission and city council and was approved.

Following approval of the site, residents appeared at a council meeting to protest the decision prompting Mayor William R. Wild and the council to schedule the public meeting to provide information and address concerns of residents who protested that the facility would be too close to two schools, an apartment complex and a cemetery. and that other locations would be more desirable.

Dr. Andrea Barthwell, a consultant planning the treatment facility attended the meeting and answered questions from those in attendance. Barthwell has spent nearly her entire career working with addictions and served under former President George W. Bush in the the Office of National Drug Control Policy. Also in attendance was the building owner, Dr. Naim Khanafer.

$12 million road bond to be on Plymouth city ballot

Voters in the City of Plymouth will be asked to approve a roads improvement bond on the Nov. 5 ballot.

Members of the Plymouth City Commission voted unanimously to place the question on the ballot. If approved by voters, the city would be allowed to borrow approximately $12.28 million to be repaid over a 10-year period. If approved, the cost to the owner of a home with a tax value of $188,085 would be an additional $236.26 next year and $239.17 in 2021, officials said.

The bond question was approved by the commissioners, they said, as an effort to ensure that the funding would be used toward the approximately $50 million in road improvements now needed in the city. Had the commissioners approved a bond rather than a millage language in the city charter would have allowed for the funds to be used for other city expenses. The bond ensures the funding is designated for road repairs.

The bond funding, if approved, would be used for "paving, repaving, resurfacing, reconstructing and improving streets, including curb, gutter, sidewalk, drainage, streetscape, traffic signalization, crosswalk and related improvements," according to proposed language.

If approved, projects for reconstruction or repair will be prioritized by the city engineering department, officials said.

Van Buren OKs $28,000 Splash Pad promotion

The new Splash Pad in Van Buren Township may soon become a tourist attraction.

The facility, the largest in Wayne County, will appear on the cover of a soon-to-publish hard-cover book that will be placed in more than 145 hotels in the greater Detroit area, following unanimous approval of the $28,000 expense by members of the Downtown Development Authority.

The request for the expense was presented to the authority members by Van Buren Township Downtown Development Authority Assistant Director Lisa Lothringer.

"It's a pretty big deal," she told the board members. The book, titled "2019-20 Metro Detroit Area Guest Guide" will be published by Hour Media. Lothringer said that the $28,000 expense includes four full pages inside the book which would normally cost $34,000. Hour Media will take the photo used on the cover, she said.

She added that the book could be seen in more than 26,000 hotel rooms with more than 3 million guests annually and that digital downloads of the book average 21,000 yearly.

"It is highly unusual for this opportunity to be offered to a governmental entity and we will be in the company of landmarks like the Little Caesars Arena which was featured on the cover two years ago," Lothringer said.

Members of the board authorized the expense noting that the cost will have to be paid from the fund balance since this expense was not budgeted.

Lothringer also told the board that the grand opening of the splash pad drew about 400 people, about 100 more than expected and that they exhausted the supply of hot dogs and ice cream. She noted that the facility would close Sept. 15 and be winterized and is now under the control of the township Parks and Recreation Department.

Entries sought for annual city Scarecrow Contest

Downtown Romulus could soon be a pretty scary place to visit as the annual exhibit of scarecrows is displayed.

Local artisans have only until Sept. 27 to deliver their finished contest entries to the Romulus Department of Public Works. Families, businesses, organizations and individuals are all eligible to enter the competition which began in 2015 and continues to grow each year. There is no fee to enter but a 6-foot-3-inch scarecrow frame is available to purchase for $5 at city hall while supplies last.

Scarecrows will be displayed in the downtown Romulus District from Oct. 1 through Nov. 1 and participants must pre-register as space is limited. Registration may be completed in person or Romulus City Hall during regular business hours or submitted by email at communtyservices@romulusgov.com.

All scarecrows must be designed so that they will stand upright and supplied with materials necessary to display them in an upright position. Commercially made scarecrows are not allowed and the scarecrows should be durably constructed s they could be subjected to severe weather. Entrants are required to monitor the state of their scarecrows for the duration of the exhibit.

The scarecrows must be in good taste and appropriate for viewing by the public and families and must not contain adult, political or religious themes. No frightening, scary, violent, gruesome or bloody entries will be accepted, city officials said.

Display locations of the scarecrows will be determined by city personnel. Business owners or residents who wish to display their entry in front of their location downtown may do so without bringing the scarecrow to city hall although pre-registration is still required by Sept. 27. Any entry not pre-registered will be removed, organizers cautioned.

Public voting for favorite scarecrows will begin Oct. 7 and continue until 4 p.m. Nov. 1. Voting is open to the public and will be done online in a photo album of the City of Romulus facebook page or in-person at Romulus City hall as well as at the Fall Family Fun Festival Oct. 18.

Scarecrows must be reclaimed by sponsors between Nov. 2 and Nov. 4. Those not reclaimed will be removed and discarded by the city.

Sumpter Township wins national weather preparedness honor

Sumpter Township was recently honored by the National Weather Service as a leader in storm preparedness.

Officials from the National Weather Service have named Sumpter Township among the agency "StormReady" communities. The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration is an agency of the U.S. Department of Commerce.

"StormReady encourages communities to take a new, proactive approach to improving local hazardous weather operations and public awareness," said Richard Pollman, Warning Coordination Meteorologist at the National Weather Service forecast office in White Lake. "StormReady arms communities with improved communication and safety skills needed to save lives and property - before and during the event."

The nationwide community preparedness program uses a grassrootsapproach to help communities develop plans to handle local severe weather and flooding threats. The program is voluntary and provides communities with clear-cut advice from a partnership between the local weather forecast office and state and local emergency managers. StormReady started in 1999 with seven communities in the Tulsa, Oklahoma, area. There are nearly 3000 StormReady sites in the United States. Sumpter Township became the first unincorporated township in Michigan to be granted with the StormReady designation.

Sumpter Township hosted a StormReady award ceremony as part of the Sept. 10 Sumpter Township Board of Trustees Meeting.

The StormReady recognition will be in effect for three years when Sumpter Township will go through a recertification process. To be recognized as StormReady, a site must: establish a 24-hour warning point and emergency operations center: have more than one way to receive severe weather forecasts and warnings and to alert the public; create a system that monitors local weather conditions; promote the importance of public readiness through multiple outreach efforts and develop a formal hazardous weather plan.

"The United States is the most severe weather prone region of the world. The mission of the National Weather Service is to reduce the loss of life and property from these storms, and StormReady will help us create better prepared communities throughout the country," Pollman said.

"Just like communities, families need to be storm ready by having an action plan for severe weather. Through StormReady, the National Weather Service plans to educate every American about what to do when severe weather strikes," he concluded.

Going clubbing

New Canton Kiwanis Club seeks community members

Julie Brown
Staff Writer

The newly-formed Canton Kiwanis Club is looking for a few good men and women who are community-minded and enjoy meeting new people.

The new club meets at 6 p.m. the second and fourth Wednesday of each month at the Canton Municipal Building, on the west side of Canton Center Road by the Canton Public Library. Reservations aren't needed as the new club members are eager to recruit people.

A recent Back to School event for families at Heritage Park got the word out, said Kiwanis member Carly Sayre. She's pleased the club already has some 23 members, both men and women, and is growing.

"I was surprised there wasn't one," said Sayre of a Canton Kiwanis, noting she believes a former club was in existence. "We're just reaching out to the community and educating them."

The Aug. 24 Back to School event drew mostly younger children and their parents, offering games and prizes. Kiwanis International has a high school Key Club as well as a K Club for younger students.

Helping adults with disabilities is part of the work of Kiwanis. Sayre said members are currently raising money and may sponsor a 5K race in the spring.

She's excited about plans locally in her club to address bullying of young people "so the adults can have some educational focus."

Either the Canton Kiwanis Club on Facebook or Sayre's email, carlysayre@mail.com, can provide more details..

Sayre said she and other members want community feedback to plan projects.

Children enjoy the Back to School event organized by members of the new Canton Kiwanis Club, below. The group is seeking new members for the recently-organized club.

"It's really interesting the group we have," she said.

Members are from business and local government, including Canton Public Safety.

Sayre, who is in an automotive business, said, "We try to accommodate everyone's needs."

Canton Club 55+ members to host Open House for seniors

Canton Club 55+members are hosting Open House from 10 a.m. until 12:30 p.m.on Wednesday, Sept. 25 at the Summit on the Park recreation center, located at 46000 Summit Parkway in Canton.

Attendees will learn about upcoming Canton Club 55+ fall classes, programs, and events during this Open House. Participants can also learn about the Summit on the Park Back to School membership special and enjoy a morning of fun at the premier fitness and community recreation destination.

"This event offers a perfect opportunity for anyone interested in a Canton Club 55+ program or activity to come and see what we have to offer, ask questions and meet many of our staff," said Stephanie Diago Berkley adult services specialist. "Join us to explore the variety of opportunities we have available for classes and programs for active adults fall and winter."

Canton Club 55+, located in the Summit on the Park Parkview Room serves as a resource for the entire community for information on aging, support for family caregivers, and for developing innovative approaches to addressing aging issues. In addition, Canton Club 55+ provides numerous opportunities for older adults to continue their personal development through special health and wellness and enrichment classes.

Howl at the Moon event planned at Canton Dog Park

The Canton Dog Park will be the site of a howlin' good time during the Howl at the Moon event set for 6-8 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 5. The free event will take place at the park located on Denton Road, just north of Cherry Hill Road in Canton.

Dog owners along with their four-legged friends can enjoy live entertainment, purchase merchandise, and receive free giveaways from local pet supply and service vendors, while supplies last.

"We look forward in seeing dog owners and their pets participate in this fun-filled event," said Laura Mortier, recreation specialist. "It is designed to bring together the dog community for a night of playing and socializing, while enjoying the fall festivities."

This annual event encourages participants of all ages to come with their dogs dressed up in Halloween-themed costumes for a chance to win prizes. Both members of the dog park and non-members can allow their dogs experience this off-leash dog park event that is designed to give owners the opportunity to learn about the Canton Dog Park, meet other pet owners, and give their dogs the opportunity to become more socialized.

No pre-registration required for this event. Non-dog park members must show proof of up-to-date vaccination for rabies and DHLLP, signed by an accredited veterinarian, in order to attend this event.

The Canton Dog Park provides 6 acres of fenced-in, outdoor space for dogs to run and play off-leash, with specific rules to help ensure a safe and positive experience for everyone. The park is divided into a large dog section for animals over 20 pounds, and a small dog section for animals under 20 pounds. Annual memberships for the Canton Dog Park are $25 for Canton residents and $50 for non-residents. These yearly membership fees cover up to three dogs per family. All licensed dogs must be at least 4 months old and up-to-date on all required shots.

INKSTER - WAYNE - WESTLAND

Westland mayor to co-chair national committee

Westland Mayor William R. Wild has been appointed to serve alongside Mayor Elizabeth B Kautz from Burnsville, MN as co-chairs of the United States Conference of Mayors (USCM) Small Business and Entrepreneurship Task Force. Both mayors were selected by USCM President Mayor Bryan K. Barnett of Rochester Hills.

"Mayor Wild has long been a leader and a national voice on entrepreneurship and I was excited to appoint him to represent Westland on the national stage as we work on this important aspect of job creation and our economy," commented Barnett. "Wild is in a unique position to lead, coming from a small business background, and I am confident that he will help the USCM develop a proactive, strategic agenda through this task force."

The Small Business and Entrepreneurship Task Force comprises mayors from across the country who will share their experiences with how they've successfully grown and supported small businesses and how they foster entrepreneurship in their cities. They will also hear from representatives from small business nationwide, in order to incubate new ideas for small business growth.

> I look forward to sharing best practices and ideas with the nation's mayors as we work to strengthen the United States economy one community at a time.

The United States Conference of Mayors is the official non-partisan organization of cities with populations of 30,000 or more. There are more than 1,400 such cities in the country today. Wild has been an actively engaged with the USCM since he took office in 2007.

"It is an honor to be selected to co-chair this task force as we examine the crucial topics of business retention, growth and job creation," commented Wild. "I look forward to sharing best practices and ideas with the nation's mayors as we work to strengthen the United States economy one community at a time."

Wayne Main Street schedules 'Toast' fundraiser

Local band, Sugartips, will be entertaining at Toast Wayne, the annual fundraiser for Wayne Main Street, set for 7-10 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 3.

This year, the event will take place at a new venue, the former site of St. Mary's School, 34530 W. Michigan Ave., located next to St. Mary's church in downtown Wayne. The event will feature live music, a curated silent auction, strolling appetizers from local restaurants, along with complimentary bar service. Tickets to Toast Wayne are $35 each or four tickets for $100 and can be purchased at https://downtownwayne.org/toastwayne/

Toast Wayne is a strolling event that features a silent auction and appetizer stations hosted by area restaurants, giving patrons the opportunity to sample local fare for more than 10 local restaurants. Many silent auction prizes will also be donated from local businesses.

Sugartips, the evening entertainment, was founded in 2009, and is an acoustic duo comprising two seasoned local musicians. Vocalist Greg Paddock has fronted a number of Detroit-area bands and has provided backing vocals for award-winning singer J.R. Richards, original lead singer of Dishwalla. Guitarist Ryan Harrison is a veteran of the local Detroit music scene, and a graduate of DIME. The group performs acoustic versions of favorite standards along with renditions of today's popular music.

"When we were discussing a musical feature at the Toast Wayne event, Sugartips was the unanimous pick by the committee. This group is a treasure to the city of Wayne. We are thankful to have them with us again," commented Sam Rainey, a Toast Wayne committee member.

"Not only does this event showcase what Wayne has to offer, it brings us together as a community. Wayne is a very close-knit city, so an event like this turns familiar faces you see around town into friendly faces," commented Lori Morrow, Toast Wayne Committee chair.

This event is the signature fundraiser for Wayne Main Street and enables the organization to continue the mission of building a revitalized and vibrant downtown Wayne, organizers stressed. The efforts of the organization have resulted in more than $3 million in private investment in downtown Wayne since 2014, a spokesperson said.

Launched in 2011, Wayne Main Street has evolved into one of the largest civic organizations in the city. Last year, volunteers from Wayne Main Street contributed more than 2,700 service hours to the community. In 2014, the organization was recognized by the Michigan Main Street Association as a Select-Level Main Street community. Wayne Main Street employs the four-point Main Street approach by promoting downtown Wayne as the heart of the community, furthering the commitment to historic preservation, creating programming that draws people to downtown Wayne and producing premier events.

Clinic

about the location, Barthwell told the audience that a certain square footage was necessary to support the program which is treatment with medications. She explained that the facility needed a commercial kitchen, a specific number of bathrooms and community space which made the site ideal for adaptation into a clinic.

Khanafer commented that he felt there is a great need in Westland and that the city had long been his choice even though he had been approved for a clinic in Waterford. He said after two years of research, they discovered that the core of the opioid problem in Wayne County, outside Detroit, is in Westland, Garden City and Dearborn Heights.

Barthwell explained that patients would be under constant supervision and would only be granted legitimate leave. She said none of the patients would be out on the street. She explained that to leave a facility of this nature, a patient was required to be escorted to a safe location.

She said patients will be subjected to background checks and that the facility has the right to turn patients away. The facility will be federally and locally regulated, she said.

Repeated questions regarding security prompted Khanafer to offer to have a security guard on-site at all times and to add video surveillance of the property.

Wild noted that the city has already approved the project and cannot withdraw that action. He admitted that he, too, "had doubts" when the project was proposed but urged the audience to give the facility a chance.

"I think we all agree that there's a need," Wild said. "Cities not just in Michigan but all across the country. I do a lot with mayors on a national level and the biggest issue facing mayors in cities across the United States right now is opioids."

Jones favors renaming of highway

State Rep. Jewell Jones (D-Inkster) said he was pleased to see the approval of a bill last week (House Bill 4261) to rename a portion of US-24, between M-153 and Warren Avenue in Wayne County, as the Julie Plawecki Memorial Highway.

"Julie's tireless service and compassion for her fellow Michiganders set an example that I strive to follow each day," said Jones. "She cared deeply for the community that I call home and her memory will undoubtedly live on in the hearts and minds of all those she touched. Establishing this memorial is just one small way to forever commemorate her commitment to the people of our state.

"Ms. Plawecki, a first-term legislator from Dearborn Heights elected in 2014, was serving in the Michigan House of Representatives when she died from an apparent heart attack on June 25, 2016, while hiking with family in Oregon. During her time in office, Ms. Plawecki was a passionate advocate for preserving our Great Lakes and waterways, serving on the House committees on Energy, Policy and Natural Resources. Her community advocacy has inspired caucus members to celebrate a day of service each year at community food banks, river cleanups and neighborhood summer programs that benefit children in need," Jones noted in a prepared statement.

State Rep. Jewell Jones

The bill now moves to the Michigan State Senate for consideration.

Northville - Plymouth

Public opinion sought in relocation of post office

The Northville Post Office will be completing a change of address card soon as officials have announced a plan to move the facility from the current location on Wing Street.

Vee A. Spikes from the Facilities Implementation Team of the United States Postal Service notified City of Northville officials that the Northville Main Post Office would be relocated to a "yet-to-be-determined location within the city limits," in a letter July 30.

Spikes said the postal service is currently experiencing issues associated with space constraints within the current building. She suggested that the proposed alternative is to pursue a new construction facility and asked the city to help find suitable land for the proposed 15,845 facility.

The lease on the privately-owned current post office site expires Nov. 30, 2022, according to official records.

In her letter, Spikes requested that the proposed move be placed on the city council agenda so public comments on the proposal could be heard and "the Postal Service Team will again identify the needs and decision to relocate the postal services, outline the proposal to meeting he needs for relocation, invite questions, solicit written inut on the proposal and provide an address to which the community and local officials may send written appeals of the tentative decision."

> The representatives of the postal service toured the city prior to the meeting to look at available properties and land.

That meeting took place during a Sept. 3 public hearing during which the members of the city council reiterated their goal of keeping the post office within the central business district. Former council members purchased land adjacent to the current site to accommodate future post office expansion, they explained and there are no plans to relocate either the Art House or the Dog Park to facilitate the post office expansion..

A contingent of U.S. Postal Service officials attended the public hearing regarding plans to relocate operations from the Wing Street building to a new space of approximately 16,000 square foot on 2.3 acres within city limits.

Several residents on Wing Street and the area neighborhood spoke in opposition to expanding the post office at the current site. The proposed new building would be owned by the U.S. Postal Service.

The representatives of the postal service toured the city prior to the meeting to look at available properties and land.

Public comments and appeals on the matter will be accepted until Oct. 3, 2019 and can be sent to Vee Spikes, Real Estate Specialist, USPS, at vee.a.spikes@usps.gov or by calling (309) 664-4627.

New commission members named

Plymouth Township now has a nine-member Environmental Leadership Commission.

The Citizens Advisory Council, which was initiated in 2017, resulted in the creation of several committees, including one on Environmental Stewardship, according to township officials. That committee, unlike most of the others that were created, outlived the duration of the Citizens Advisory Council and continues to meet as an ad-hoc volunteer group, involved in a variety of environmental awareness, education and advocacy projects," he added.

In recognition of this effort, and to provide a more formal structure and integration into Township Hall operations and initiatives, the Board of Trustees voted to create a formal commission to continue this citizen-driven effort and to make township government more of a partner in it, the official added.

> The longest term on the commission is 3 years.

Terms on the new Environmental Leadership Commission, as required by township ordinance, will serve staggered terms, with the longest term at 3 years.

Barterian will serve 1 year; Binion-Zucaro 2 years; Bord 1 year; Lamar 3 years; MacLaren 3 years; Price 2 years; Prohaska 1 year; Wolf 2 years and Yeager 3 years.

The commission members are currently working to establish an organizational meeting date which will be announced soon..

Old friends

When Wayne County Prosecutor Kym Worthy agreed to speak at the Plymouth Men's Book Club last week, she was surprised to find the man who first hired her, former prosecutor George Ward, at right, in the audience. The Men's Book Club, organized by Fred Hill, at left, includes no reading, but does focus on charitable contributions. Worthy spoke about her experiences as a judge and now a prosecutor and her charity, The Children's Center, in Detroit. The center serves nearly 7,500 children annually who struggle with behavioral emotional, educational or physical challenges. Photo by Dave Willett
